TRIPLE SEARCH FOR LOST GIRL

DEFENSE DENOUNCES JEROME

CONCORDIA, N. H., Jan. 27.—Harry Thaw's attorneys, in their brief filed today, charge that William Jerome, Thaw's attorney, is his agent to drag Thaw back to New York, is trying to "get possession of Thaw to lock him up in a madhouse, and that by so doing he is making a foothold of the constitution for the perversion of justice."

MRS. ANNA SAMSONE.
Worcester woman whose husband, charging cruelty, sued for divorce and lost case.

The brief, supporting Thaw's petition for habeas corpus, is in the hands of the Federal Court, and a hearing on it is expected within a week. This brief marks the climax of the case. If Judge Aldrich decides against Thaw, an appeal will be taken to the Supreme Court. But if he decides in favor of Thaw, it is highly possible that the State of New York may give up the fight and allow Thaw to go free.

In any case, it is considered certain that Thaw will be freed on appeal after the coming hearing, and even should the Supreme Court eventually decide he should be extradited, it is probable that Thaw will have left the country before then. From this comes dispatches saying that his old friends there expect he will sail for France immediately upon his release.

The Thaw brief filed today is the best remarkable of all the documents in the case. The language is vigorous and to the point, and the arguments are marshaled in swift sequence. It presents, in outline, these questions:

1.—Is Thaw substantially charged with a crime against the laws of the demanding State?
2.—Is Thaw a fugitive from justice?
3.—Is the requisition sought for any ulterior or private purpose?
Concerning the first of these points the brief says:

"The United States constitution provides that no person shall be deprived of his life, liberty or property without due process of law. It can be said that a person is so deprived if he is returned to the demanding State on a pretext."

LEAD FAITH CHARGED.
"Good faith consisted in all honest intention to abstain from taking any unconscionable advantage of another, even through the forms or technicalities of law."
"If the purpose of this requisition is to return Thaw to Matamoras, it is not in good faith. It is in pursuit for private reasons, of the instance of individuals, it is not for public reasons, and, therefore, it is not in good faith."

File Thaw "Machouse Fight" Brief

Confesses to 80 Bomb Outrages

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—One of the most amazing confessions of crime ever heard in the criminal courts today fell from the lips of Alfred Zahman, who admitted upon the witness stand that he had taken part in eighty bomb explosions in this city and in two murders, which baffled the police. Zahman was a witness against Angelo Sycamore, an Italian, charged with planting a bomb in an Italian tenement house. Zahman said he received from $5 to $400 for each of his attacks upon life and property.

Destitution Wins Freedom for Woman

WORCESTER, Jan. 27.—After learning a pitiful story told by Mary Allen, aged thirty-seven, who was arrested for stealing coal, Probation officer Buckerton failed the woman and saw to it that she was taken home. According to the police, her husband had left her and she had been left with food and fuel in the house.

Mrs. Hammond Wears $1,000,000 Gems

BOSTON, Jan. 27.—The American women at the court ball really carried off the honors. Mrs. John J. Hammond and Mrs. F. Morris were jewels valued at $2,000,000. One necklace worn by Mrs. Morris was worth $100,000. Mrs. Hammond's gems were valued at nearly a million dollars.

Oldest Woman in State Dead at 105

MASS., Tolu. Robert Lescroart, the oldest woman in Massachusetts, died today at the Catholic Home for Aged, No. 141 Highland avenue, Somerville, aged 105 years. She was born in Canada and retained her faculties until recently. She was a widow and came from Newburyport to the home three months ago.

Anna Held Hears She Is Heir to $100,000

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—Anna Held, who had inherited a $100,000 legacy from an admirer in California, Harry M. Steinberg, her counsel, says that property estimated to be worth that amount was left by a woman who died last November. He refused to be more specific. He said Miss Held had instructed him to collect.

Wilson Favors U. S. Panama Canal Tolls

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—It was announced today that President Wilson was in favor of a new Panama Canal tolls paying tolls in the Panama Canal.

St. Elizabeth's Hospital Fund $43,000

Children and residents of distant States are joining in the campaign to raise the $200,000 needed for the new hospital buildings. Every dollar helps to send the thermometer a little bit higher.

Sulzer Gives "Graft Letters" to Whitman

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—Eighty "graft letters" turned over by former Governor Sulzer to District Attorney Whitman will be used in the local and state investigation of the collection from contractors. These letters, it was said today, contain many new and valuable "facts." They are also alleged to contain names of contractors mentioned in connection with the operations of the "Bribe."

Mellen to Tell of Steamship Deals

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—Charles H. Mellen, former president of the New Haven Railroad, has been ordered by the Supreme Court to appear as a witness here Monday in the suit brought by Jennie B. Morse, daughter of Charles W. Morse, to recover alleged losses she incurred through the purchase by the New Haven of the Metropolitan Steamship Company, a former Morse line.

Divine Suicide Theory

Calebrook people have no patience with the suicide theory of the girl's disappearance. They believe she has been kidnapped and beaten and they feel that her mother, Mrs. H. H. Mellen, has offered a $100 reward for her recovery. The newspaper expect to increase this reward, if the girl is not found within a few days.

Girl Expected to Go Home

The girl had expected to go home to Calebrook on the tenth of the month, two days after she disappeared. On the chance that she may be alive, the mother has offered a $100 reward for her recovery.

Woman Invald Arraigned for Assault

PROVIDENCE, Jan. 27.—So weak and moping that she had to be helped into the courtroom, Alice H. Morgan, 67, was arraigned on a charge of assault on Mary Morgan, her daughter.

Run Down CLEINS in ARLEN CASE

A triple search for Eleanor Arlen, the missing Brookline stenographer, whose strange disappearance has baffled the police, was set afoot today.

The girls in the neighborhood of Brookline, N. H., are searching the woods about the town on the chance the girl may have wandered back there. The Brookline and Boston police are searching Greater Boston, and the Worcester police and the West Boyfield and Leominster authorities around Worcester County in an effort to trace the girl seen in Worcester last week, and whom four people declare was Miss Arlen.

This Worcester view is the only trace of the girl since her strange disappearance. From the time she left her room at 110 West January 1 she has vanished absolutely. It was while her mother and relatives were desperately running down every possible line of investigation that the girl was reported seen in Worcester. She was seen by four persons who later identified her from public notices as the missing girl.

Miss Arlen's old home was at Calebrook, N. H., the little village where Harry Thaw was arrested after his deportation from Canada into this country. Calebrook folks are stirred to the highest pitch for the girl, a church worker and Sunday school teacher there, was a favorite in the town, and commanded the respect of every man and woman there.

GREAT FORBES-ROBERTSON'S GREAT 'HAMLET'

By NICHOLAS YOUNG.

An earnest and almost overwhelming tribute to a distinguished player made the appearance of Forbes-Robertson at the Shubert last evening an event worthy of commemoration long after he has departed with his art, when the drama will return to those that are frothy and frivolous. There has always been a full measure of enjoyment in the Hamlet of Forbes-Robertson, and last evening's performance fulfilled every promise.

For once, at least, the classic was in safe hands and the drama was correct, the largest house since Edwin Taw brought the play to the stage. It was an approval that, if dignified, was spontaneous and sincere.

Forbes-Robertson has made his interpretation of Hamlet the subject of so much praise that one may say more than that it is not only unrivaled on the stage of today, but that it also marks his own highest achievement in the art. There was nothing new or novel in the Hamlet you saw at the Shubert last evening, but it was Hamlet treated intelligently by an actor who combined the art of self-control with a genuine gift of eloquence.

Another scene of real pleasure in Forbes-Robertson's 'Hamlet' was the simple support he allowed himself in the long list of characters. But few of these spots could be discovered. Gertrude Elliott was an Ophelia worth seeing. Like Hamlet, she told a hard luck story, and like the Hamlet of her husband, Miss Elliott made Ophelia brilliantly unhappy. Her scenes were handled with good taste and with a fine artistic sense.

Jan Robertson gave Polonius a touch of humanity that made the character real, and Walter Hinchman played Claudius like a world-class villain—what he probably is. The ghost of Hamlet's father was excellently done by Percy Aldous, who read his lines with convincing expression. I have seen more ghostly effects, however.

The bill at the Shubert tonight will be "The Lights That Failed."

Holmes' Lecture.
Barton Holmes will continue his series of lectures at Tremont Temple this week with the subject, "China in 1914," showing the effect of republicanism on the history of big republics. Many motion pictures and colored views will illustrate the dominating elements of the modern empire with the present progressive republic. Mr. Holmes will give "China in 1914" Friday evening and Saturday afternoon.

Gaiety Theatre.
The "Queens of Paris" took up the burden of entertainment at the Gaiety Theatre yesterday—and made good. Not a little of the success of this brick burlesque organization is due to its pretty girls, who have shared honors with the hard working comedians. The music supplied for the entertainment was popular in melody, and the fun-making was sane and reasonable. It was a fast show.

Howard Albemarle.
"The Honey Cakes" was a good thing at the Old Howard yesterday. The provided spirited burlesque which, in good many cases, was a very catchy melody. "Vandelin" features were presented.

Orpheum Theatre.
Relays, a wonderful musical, was the headline feature of the new bill at the Orpheum Theatre yesterday. It topped a remarkably attractive program of good vaudeville numbers.

St. James Theatre.
Daley Harcourt, one of vaudeville's brightest entertainers, was the big star in the new bill at the St. James Theatre yesterday. A dozen well-chosen features were included in the program.

Waldron's Casino.
"The Great Belated Show" began a week's engagement at the Casino Theatre yesterday afternoon. Last night featured the cast and proved a lively entertainer.

Bowdoin Sq. Theatre.
"Traffic in White Slaves" a feature motion picture play, headed the new program at the Bowdoin Square Theatre yesterday.

Grand Opera House.
"The Persian Beauties" moved into the Grand Opera House yesterday. It was old fashioned burlesque at its best.

Constantino Makes a Most Striking Faust

By FREDERICK JONES.

For the first time last night, Constantino, Edvard and Danes officiating. Tourist continued.

There was a very large and brilliant audience, and much enthusiasm. The event of the performance was the return of Constantino, who had not been heard for nearly three years in the part of the rejuvenated phlegm.

The tenor was in good spirits and better voice than at his last previous performance. I have often commented upon the extraordinary sweetness and loveliness of this voice, a quality that will make him worth hearing in lyric roles for some years longer. Last night he sang with considerable regard for measure, but made rather too great a use of the mezzo voice, which is a very admirable fault, but after all not so satisfying as a full tone.

Constantino sang this mezzo voice in his specialty, and it does enable him to sustain a note and shadings impossible to those who use only the full voice. He was acting in still and calm, but appropriate for this old opera, in that the singing is more important than the acting. He was much applauded.

Jedova's Marguerite is familiar. Her singing suffers from the untidiness of the orchestra under Tourist, particularly towards the end of the scenes. The singing of Jedova, Edwards-Rose and Leveroni in their respective roles is always admirable. The choruses were fairly good.

Films of the Scott Polar Trip Shown.
For the first time in this city last night in the "Polar Trip" motion pictures of Captain Robert Peary's South Pole expedition were shown. The picture was entitled "The Underlying Story of Captain Scott's Expedition." It was very interesting from the point of view of the audience's correct idea of the struggles for the sake of science.

In addition to the scenes of Captain Scott's trip, there were also moving pictures shown of the animal life in the Arctic. The most important feature of the show was the interesting lecture delivered by Edward Wilson.

BIG SHOW AT B. F. KEITH'S DELIGHTS ALL

A big show with plenty of fun, several loggers and a number of other features are these put the show at Keith's Theatre this week in the front rank of vaudeville entertainment. It is an all round thing, bit amusing from start to finish.

There is Roger Imhoff—you see him in the City Square—Beverly, another star laugh provider; Marcella Conn, clever as can be found; an immense trip in "Bargain Landing," U. S. A.

There is Harry Deane, simply astounding in his feat—swinging three barrels with tables and chairs, a real "roller" in his success.

'PROPER' TANGO IS DANCED AT THE NATIONAL

The "tango" as danced by Lucy and Paul Jones at the National Theatre, proved to two audiences yesterday that the much discussed dance is a thing of beauty. The proper interpretation of this and other late popular steps, as executed by Miss Jones and her partner, was revelation to those who have hitherto judged the dance simply from what they had heard or read.

HAIR STOPS FALLING & DANDRUFF DISAPPEARS—25-CENT DANDERINE

Save your hair! Make it soft, fluffy, lustrous and beautiful.

Try as you will, after an application of Danderine, you cannot find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most, will be after a few weeks, when you see new hair, fine and downy at first—growing but really new hair—growing all over the scalp. Little Danderine immediately

EXPERTS SPLIT OVER GRONDIN 'SUICIDE NOTE'

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 27.—Handwriting experts will battle over the new famous "suicide note" when John Grondin, the former Maine chemist, charged with murder of his wife, Zella, under guise of suicide, is given another hearing February 3. The note is one Grondin alleged his wife wrote to him just before she inhaled gas in October. This note, mentioning the name of a Maine man and a woman from the same State caused the father of Mrs. Grondin, George Duval, to institute an inquiry. Two handwriting experts have had the note under examination and today one of them announced positively the note was written by Grondin. The second was equally positive. It had been written by Mrs. Grondin. One of the experts represents the prosecution; the other the defense.

Cherries in Winter Time! Luscious Ones

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 27.—Cherries are in season here. What do you know about that? But it is true and the man who has them is Henry Williams of San Leandro, who furnished quality proof to several of his friends that a tree in his home yard is bearing big, red cherries, full grown and of fine flavor.

Williams explains the freak as due to the dryness of last year and to the fact that he has kept the tree watered.

Women's Hands Helped to Dig the PANAMA CANAL

No less important than the hand which directed the gigantic shovels to bite deeply into the mountains, has been the guiding hand of woman. Happiness is the best stimulant for good work. Uncle Sam figured that woman contributed most to man's contentment. He made the Isthmus clean and healthy, and then brought on the sisters, wives and children—created model homes, and encouraged bachelors to become benefactors, by supplying far better living accommodations to the married than to the unmarried. Women's clubs were organized—social functions created. American women may well take pride in the part their sisters have played in the digging of the canal. It is an intensely interesting human phase of the Panama story which is charmingly told in

PANAMA AND THE CANAL In Picture and Prose

Through the great educational offering now being conducted by the Boston American you can get this remarkably complete book almost without cost.

It is literally a trip to Panama, for it makes you see the whole inside story of the great work—much more than you could accomplish if you actually went to the Isthmus.

A Big Story in a Big Book

You see the Canal Zone as it is today. You are told all the important happenings since the earliest discoveries. The intrigues, jealousies, politics, romance, the pirate raids, and all the thrilling incidents of wars and revolutions are put before you in the most vivid and realistic story ever written about any country.

644 Photographs

The hundreds of beautiful photographic reproductions, embellishing every page of this big book, present a continuous picture, adding a rare charm to the more than 400 large readable pages.

16 Color Plates

The superb water color reproductions of Panama scenes, specially painted by the noted artist, E. J. Read, are alone worth more than the small amount necessary to secure the book.
